5) Decide on how you plan to handle potential conflicts

- if a group member doesn't contribute to the work send a written warning to the member (cc to the lecturer). This must be done before 30% of the work is left. All other members must agree and sign the written warning.
- If the group member after the written warning still doesn't contribute, the other members can send a resignation letter to the student (cc to the lecturer).
- If a group member does all the work alone without help from the group this group member can send a warning to the rest of the group and if this is not getting better the member may resign from the group (cc to the lecturer).
